

Wells Play Field Have Your say

Wells-next-the-Sea Town Council has been working towards the future wellbeing of the local community by drawing plans to improve the town's long established playing field for the benefit of the children of Wells and the town's visitors.

The council hopes to achieve this by making the Beach Road site an inclusive play area, offering the opportunity for universal play, where all are welcome from toddlers to teens, with areas designed to challenge children and cater for the particular play needs of specific age groups and abilities.

In order to provide this enriched play experience the popular site needs a significant upgrade to bring it into the 21st century, so the town council has begun to consult with some of the country's leading play equipment companies to see what exciting products are on offer and how they could be adapted to reflect the unique character of Wells-next-the-Sea.

Although the project is at the very early stages it is still important to make your views known, so come to the Town Meeting 7:00 at the Maltings on the 22nd of April, where you can have your say and see some of the possible designs for the Beach Road Play Field.
